As a radio listener the first thing that I want is choice. If I choose to pay for XM radio I should be able to receive whatever the XM market has to offer. This choice should not be dictated by AM and FM broadcasters who received their airwaves for free in return for offering a public service. I personally listen to both XM radio and FM. In an open market, I will choose the best programming. Please do not allow a few rich broadcasters to limit my choices in order to further their economic gain!

Sincerely,
Tom Bachman
